E-news - May 2010

For your convenience, a PDF document of this newsletter can be found at http://www.trogphoto.com/assets/lower_links/newsletter.htm - formatted the way I intended it.

In this edition:

- Canadian Photographer of the Year
 - CAPIC ClipUp Winner
 - The Next Level
 - Action and Adventure in Utah
- Social Networking - Photo of the Month

Canadian Photographer of the Year

PPOC* National Convention was earlier this month in Quebec - although I did not win the Canadian Commercial Photographer of the Year award, I was one of only four finalists and I received my CPA designation. I'm pretty pleased with that - and I still hold the title of 2010 Commercial Photographer of the Year for Alberta/Saskatchewan!

*Professional Photographers of Canada
 Craftsman of Photographic Arts

CAPIC ClipUp Winner

On another note, I did enter an image into the fun and motivating ClipUp competition with the Prairie Chapter of CAPIC* last week - and was voted the winner by my peers. See Photo of the Month below.

*Canadian Association of Photographers and Illustrators in Communications

The Next Level

In light of being recognized for our skills and experience by PPOC and CAPIC, we have begun a bit of restructuring in our business and pricing to bring us to the next level of professionalism. Note the 'footer' at the bottom of this email, and watch for other forthcoming changes. :)

If you hadn't noticed, this newsletter no longer monthly, but rather sporadically as important news requires sharing.

Action and Adventure in Utah

Check out my YouTube page, and April's Photo of the Month for more on this great adventure trip.

My first time-lapse sunset video (after the below morning snow storm) -

2 hours waiting, 20 minutes of photography, and less than 10 seconds of video footage here:
